

NEPG X BRIGHT CLUB

TIME: 16.15 – 16.50

LOCATION: BANQUETING HALL

For the first time in NEPG history, we present the NEPG X Bright Club collaboration! Compère for this afternoon is Stand-Up comedian Matt Hoss.

Bright Club is a comedy night where academics can talk about their research and life in academia in a light hearted and humorous manner, merging research with performance, music, and comedy. The Bright Club format originated 10 years ago at UCL and promptly spread around the country, with regular regional events, including those run by the Centre for Life, Newcastle. To close this great day of research, some of your peers are bravely taking to the stage, to give stand-up a go. The session will be compèred by Matt Hoss, an award winning comedian, Edinburgh Fringe performer and podcaster, who is currently touring with his stand-up show, “Here comes your man” (<http://www.matthosscomedy.com/>). Join us for a giggle, and to support your fellow postgrads!

Big thanks to Marilena Pace and her team at the Centre for Life, Newcastle, who have taken the time to organise this event and train the budding comics!

If you want to have a go yourself, check out the BrightClub Newcastle website (<https://www.life.org.uk/events/bright-club>), email brightclub@life.org.uk to find out more or look up some BrightClub events in your area.
